Q What role does technology play in your family?

Our family is extremely digital. We have friends who joke that my 14-year-old son Branson was born with a mouse in his hand. The Internet has always been "on" in our household. My children have grown up surfing the Web for information and playing games online. We've also got iPads, iPod Touches, and other tech-driven toys (A)occupying/to occupy our time.

Q Do you share your gadgets or do your children have their own?

We have a family computer that is shared by everyone. Until this year, the family computer was the only way our children were allowed (B)go/to go online. With Branson entering Grade 6 at WAB last year, he was required to get his own MacBook. He's now primarily on that computer while my 10-year old daughter Hannah still uses the family computer. We bought them an iPod Touch because they wanted to have their own music play-lists and games. My wife and I each have our own iPads, which we let our children (C)use/to use when we travel sometimes.

We can turn the sun's light into electricity with solar panels. (ⓐ) Solar panels are made up of a material called silicon. (ⓑ) When the sunlight hits the solar panel, the electrons(tiny particles) in the silicon move and flow through wires built into the solar panel. (ⓒ) Using this technology, we can run a calculator and even power cars. (ⓓ) So, solar panels have batteries attached to them to store electricity for a rainy day. (ⓔ) When the sun is shining, the electricity flows from the solar panel into the batteries. This stored electricity can be used at night or on cloudy days. This type of technology using solar energy is still (A)fairly new and expensive. But the sun gives off more energy in one second than people have used since the beginning of time.

14. Where is the best place to insert the following sentence into the passage? (5점)
